

HTML

1. Create an HTML table showcasing the use of attributes like margin, rowspan, colspan, cellpadding, etc.
2. What are lists? Show the application of lists in HTML.
3. Create a form that has various input fields like text, number, date, email, password, radio, checkbox, etc.
4. What is absolute and relative path reference? How can we insert images and links in an HTML page? Explain with example.

CSS

1. What are stylesheets? How to use CSS internally and externally?
2. Create a simple division template containing header, content and footer using HTML and CSS.
3. Create a CSS floating template of the following pattern:

4. Create a navigation bar using CSS with the help of either lists or table and show the use of hover effect.
5. What is CSS position? Illustrate relative and absolute position.
6. Create a dropdown menu in the navigation bar [from Q.no. 4].
7. What is media query? Show its use in flex-box and grid layout.

JavaScript

1. What is javascript? How can we generate output in it?

2. Create a simple arithmetic calculator using javascript.
3. Provide examples of javascript conditional statements.
4. Illustrate loops and nested loops with suitable examples.
5. Show use of events with their proper actions [onclick, onmouseover, onload, etc].
6. Show the use of setTimeout() and setInterval() functions.
7. Use date object to access date and time to create a simple digital clock.
8. What is Regular Expression? Show its use while validating form data.

Jquery

1. Using the jQuery library, show basic effect like show/hide, fadeIn/Out and slideUp/slideDown.
2. Use jQuery to demonstrate append() and prepend() functions.
3. Use jQuery to create plugins like: slider, lightbox, accordion, zoom and toast messages.

PHP scripting

1. How to declare variables and print statements in PHP?
2. Use GET and POST methods to collect form data.
3. Use include and require statements to design a simple website.
4. Create a connection with the DBMS and create a database.
5. Design a CRUD system.
6. Show the use of session variables to create a login authentication system.